With A Thought Of
DEDICATION

Are You An Individualist?

Each year it is a tradition to have a theme for the yearbook. This year we have tried to develop the concept of our theme in the pages that follow. Most of this was done by getting out of the rut of "the way it used to be." Being an individualist, true to oneself, is an ideal to cherish and to hold. I hope, that through this book, one will find a better understanding of himself and others around him. People should not try to follow in the paths of others; rather, they should set their own way in today's society to live by.

—Jim Morton

THE KEY CLUB

The Key Club at F.M.A. is but a small unit considering the world wide International Key Club. As a unit they accomplish services to the community through projects and charity drives. Enthusiastically, time and money are donated for worthy projects which helps the community as a whole, while developing experience for our leaders of tomorrow.

The year of 1969 will bring sounds of satisfaction and pride for Key Club members. Combined efforts of participants in the Club will denote the arousing melody of success and fulfillment to society and to the student and faculty members of F.M.A.

Through the superb leadership of its responsible members, the Key Club will always remain one of the most active clubs on this campus and in the world.

The National Honor Society is an elite group of cadets with very high academic standings. Members of this organization have received scholastic honors in varied fields of educational endeavor. The I'Anson Chapter, the society at Frederick Military Academy, presents a vivid illustration of its cardinal qualities: leadership, character, scholarship, and service. Each year our faculty selects new members, primarily composed of returning juniors. Major Garrett is the current sponsor.

The fundamental goal of the National Honor Society is to recognize excellent students for their outstanding academic achievements and to provide incentive for further excellence. Ralph Jerome Parsons, the society's president, has presided most honorably.

THE CANNON STAFF

This year the annual staff has faced many trying hardships. The staff, working into the late hours of the night, put together the best annual possible. Limitations resulted from vandalism and destruction of over a hundred needed pictures. Maybe these few people would rather have a few good snapshots, than to enrich the possibility of having an excellent annual.

All in all, I thank the majority of the staff and a few others such as: Chris Steel, Donovan Hendricks, "Kid" Cottingham, and, oh yeah, Col. Rosenblatt for their help in compiling the 1969 Cannon.

GLEE CLUB

The Frederick Military Academy Glee Club represents an elite group of cadets. Since the creation of this group, great achievements have taken place under the fine direction of Captain Samuel M. Reynolds.

Effort and time put forth by this group of cadets in achieving quality overtones is not to be overlooked, also the dedication of its director and his accompanist, Mrs. Reynolds.

Besides singing at social gatherings, in concerts, on television, and on campus, they traveled to churches ranging in distance from one to a hundred miles. Everywhere they went, people acknowledged their fine performance and complimented them on a job well done.

STUDENT CHAPLAINS

Members of this staff are dedicated Christian cadets with high ethics and morals. Under the guidance of Captain Wilbur Presson, Chaplain on Campus, religion is introduced into the activities of the cadets, making it an integral part of their daily lives.

INFIRMARY STAFF

Upset stomachs, flu, and sprains are common at Frederick's Infirmary. Whatever the medical problem, treatment for all cadets is given promptly by Mr. Doerr and his cadet staff under the professional supervision of Dr. Buchanan. Cadets on the infirmary staff serve on a volunteer basis, helping Mr. Doerr conduct his daily routine of taking care of sick cadets and maintaining a sanitary atmosphere for their recovery.

Allton, C. E., Lamm, J. T., Mr. Doerr, Dr. Buchanan, Alton, J. D.

Rick Williams finishing up another joyous day sorting the mail.

THE MAILROOM

To cadets attending F.M.A. the mailroom represents a link of communication with their family and special friends. This mode of communication is always a welcoming sight around 3:00, when mail is extracted by hall officers and distributed to cadets. Sorting of this mail is done solely by cadets Vose and Williams.

CHOW HALL STAFF

Mrs. Conway, our school dietician, instructs the cooks and their helpers on how to prepare food. Cadet chow hall workers help with the serving of foods and drinks, as well as cleaning and maintaining a healthy climate. At least two hot plates are available everyday to all cadets. Breakfast is served at 6:30, lunch between 11:20 and 1:00, and supper at 5:45. The tremendous job of feeding the cadets is a task that many would shudder to undertake. The continual supplying of food and spices is a constant reminder of the regular burdens encountered by Mrs. Conway.

SUPPLY HALL

Mr. F. O. Wright, the outspoken supervisor of the cadet supply hall, distinguishes himself with his efficiency by meeting most of the cadets needs — sewing, washing, drying, and restocking school garments.

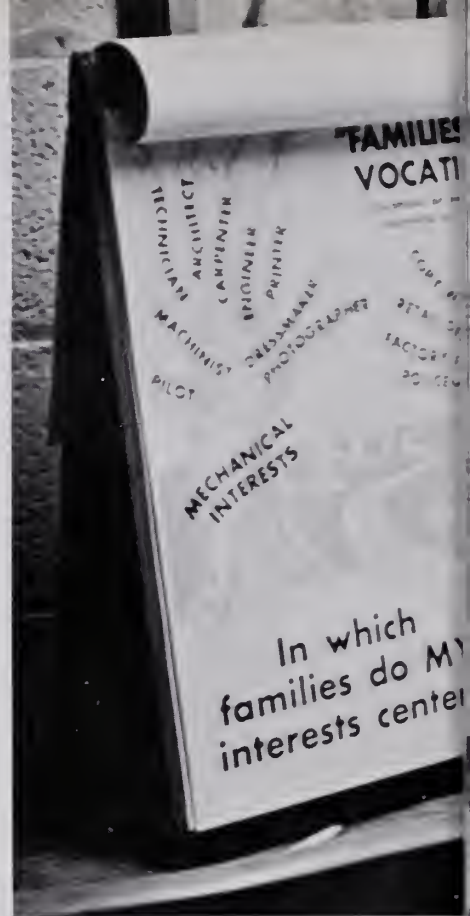

Cadets under the direction of Mr. Wright perform such duties as sweeping floors, arranging laundry and giving out laundry. The most often heard ditty by the cadet staff is Mr. Wright's continual shout, "All right ladies, cut the rockin' and reel in' and make with the wheelin' and dealin'."

Front to Back: Burrows, W.; Burton, H.; McCurry, P.; Hughes, J.; Lively, C.; Wills, G.; Creech, D.; Frick, C.; F. O. Wright—Manager.

Major Clarence P. Mooring serves as the guidance counselor at Frederick. He is always ready to confer with students about their schedule preparation, educational plans and individual problems. His duties range from giving tests which will give the cadet a guide for choosing the best college to consulting with cadets on their personal problems. Other tests are administered to cadets to give them the foresight by which they may channel their abilities.

The cadets at Frederick receive the best educational and counseling services available. As they enter college, they will have received an education sharpened to a fine edge.

The

The Canteen at Frederick Military Academy is the cadets combination lounge and recreation area. It provides a comforting as well as welcoming break between classes for all cadets. Telephone service, television, ping-pong, school supplies and snacks are elements in the make-up of this segment of a cadets life. The Canteen is the only area in the school where most military regulations are relaxed.

Homecoming Festivities

Around the fiery flames of the roaring bonfire at the Homecoming Pep Rally, Cadets admonished the on-coming team with much fury and defiance.

After the triumphal march over Columbian Prep, the traditional Homecoming dance sponsored by the senior class, provided a new vein of entertainment for all the cadets on campus. Silently the weekend closed with the dying roars of victory falling on silent ears, as cadets began to settle back into their normal routine at Frederick.

THE 1968 MILITARY BALL

Since the foundation of the Academy, the Military Ball has become a very dignified and stately social occurrence.

Starry-eyed girls and wishful things (cadets) led the procession into the Military Ball this year. The mood was set by the ladies' fine apparel and the cadets' Military insignas and dazzling uplifted sabres. Sweeping clouds of creamy white parachutes tinted with colorful decorations and smooth flowing music combined with the chatter of dates, made this a night to be remembered.

The Junior-Senior Prom

This year's Junior-Senior Prom was as yet the biggest and most appreciated dance that ever rocked F.M.A. Music was provided by the smooth sounding Sebastian and the Pop Tops. Polynesian scenes, Tiki gods, Voodoo temples, waterfalls and jungle scenes provided the atmosphere for a long-time memory for all Juniors and especially the Seniors.

The Junior Class production of the Junior-Senior Prom was made possible by Lt. Bisette and his able-bodied assistants, the Junior Class.

"Tiger at the Gates"

Under the professional direction of Captain Wilton Sale, the cast and crew combined their talents to present "Tiger at the Gates" as the 1969 Senior Class Play. Measuring up to the high standards set by Senior Class Plays in previous years, "Tiger at the Gates" provided an entertaining evening for all.

The Valedictory Address

CLASS OF 1969

Justice l'Anson, Mr. Wentz, Col. Inscoe, members of the faculty, and friends:

Man is a developing animal. When a child is born he is like a parasite who takes from his environment that which nourishes and sustains him, but gives nothing in return. He draws from the resources of his parents, his friends, his church, and his school. As he develops physically, mentally, and morally, he becomes less parasitic. He begins to give rather than to take, to create rather than to destroy, to lead rather than to follow, and to assume responsibility for his actions rather than to pass this responsibility on to others.

As seniors about to be graduated, we find ourselves at this stage. No longer can we enjoy the parasitic luxury of self indulgence or irresponsibility. More than ever, what we do with our lives will affect society as a whole. In the not too distant future, it will be our influence which will determine war or peace, poverty or wealth, injustice or justice. The future depends upon the determination and wisdom of youth today in accepting the challenge put forth by the older generation.

We, as the youth of today, must assume those responsibilities which society is passing on to us. Our training has prepared us to accept the demands of tomorrow's leadership. We must use the past experiences to suggest better ways of meeting the present, use the present for a sound basis to meet the future. If we wish to create and not destroy, we must use discriminating judgement to determine those methods and values of past years which no longer apply today and to create substitutes which will effectively take their place.

As others before us have found, the problems we face will be unique. The rapid advances made in science and technology bring with them a corresponding social, moral, and even legal evolution. Take heart transplants, for example. No one can deny the importance of a medical achievement such as this—an achievement which can prolong the life of a man previously considered doomed. But even as we praise this miraculous advancement, we must pause to consider the moral and legal implications. If the donor's heart is still beating—is he morally or legally dead? We may one day have to decide.

Exploration of outer space offers even more challenging questions. Even now men are arguing as to whether such a costly venture should be allowed to utilize funds which might better be spent in improving the plight of the poor here at home. Who can say what other questions will arise as we continue to make new discoveries in outer space. All we can be certain of is that whatever advancement we make will bring with it corresponding problems which require mature, discriminating judgement to solve. And this time the decision will be ours—and so will the responsibility. That, after all, has been the purpose of our development.

As we meet here today, contemplating the future before us, we will do well to remember these few words of Winston Churchill for they are most appropriate today. He said: "This is not the end; this is not even the beginning of the end. This is just the end of the beginning."

Thank you.

The 1968 football season was a rough one for the Prep team. Comprised of young men from the entire East Coast, the team had a hard time adjusting to each other's style of play during the first half of the season. The boys began working together in the last half of the season and fared well against their later opponents.

The Cubs played the National Junior College champion, Ferrum, in their season opener and after a hard fought game yielded 21-7. After a comeback Frederick blew a P.A.T. forcing a 6-6 tie with Fork Union Military Academy in our second game. For the next game F.M.A. traveled to the University of Maryland and lost a tough 7-6 decision to their freshmen team. Frederick gained momentum in the second half of the season. First the Cubs played a fantastic game against the United States Military Academy Prep team, only to have them tie it 14-14 on a last second two point conversion. In the next game Frederick whopped Columbian Prep 20-18. The sixth game found the Preps losing a heartbreaker to Bainbridge Naval Training School by a 7-6 score. In the next game the Cubs ran into a devastating William & Mary freshman team and lost a vicious battle 23-8. The season finale found Frederick unleashing the fury it had held back so long; the unfortunate victim was Chowan College who was defeated by a 20-7 score. A wonderful way to top off a long and hard fought season!

Bonelli is knocked out of bounds after a 12 yard gain.

The boys who do a lot of work and receive little recognition... the DEFENSIVE TEAM.

The defensive line, starring Steve Sakis (No. 53) repulses the Chowan attack.

Light tracks down his man.

Touchdown on the way.

Kelly leaps high on a center jump while "Peanut" Johnson and Goodman anxiously await the outcome.

Smith surveys the situation downcourt.

Alvin D. Smith, top scorer for the J.V.'s, prepares to add another 2 to his total.

"Peanut" steadies his aim on the free-throw line.

Culpepper looks on while Paulson goes after the ball.

Time to talk over a change in strategy.

Dear Cadets,

This year we have seen Astronauts of our beloved country circle the moon and return home. Many types of organs have been transplanted from one body to another. Announcements have been made that there will be no more German Measles because of the new vaccine. On every hand we are advancing. Science is being developed that will keep man healthy with a long life, and machines once considered a luxury have now become a necessity.

We, who are Frederick (the Founders, Members of the Board of Trustees, the Faculty, and Staff) have strived to give you the academic education and physical bearing necessary to join in and lead the scientific community upon completion of your education; however, we have tried to give you much more.

It is my most fervent desire that you have now strengthened your belief in the Omnipotent and have gained an understanding of yourself that will cause you to be a contributing force for good in these our United States.

Our best wishes and prayers go with you.

Sincerely,

Philip G. Incoe
President

It really must be a good feeling to know that everyone is constantly aware of your presence. To know that no matter where you go or what you do, everyone is watching you and learning from your actions.

It's also a very great responsibility and few men are capable of shouldering such a fateful task. We have the privilege, though, of having such a man working with us every day. He is the Commandant of our school, and without fear of being told that we have been too elegant in this short description of such a man, we would like to dedicate this yearbook to one of our departing leaders, Colonel West.

he can be sad or happy too

Maj. Roy Ayres
Asst. to the President

Do these men look bored to you? Well they're not, they're working. As a matter of fact, they're working for you. They don't have time to think about their own feelings. They really don't try to let their personal affairs get involved in their work.

Do we make their job any easier? Do we work with them or against them? Now here's the big question—are you bored?
